The Wellness Centre

An architectural rendering of a modern building named 'The Wellness Centre'. The building features a light grey, horizontally-paneled facade on the left side, where the name 'The Wellness Centre' is displayed in large, white, illuminated letters. To the right, a large glass facade with a dark frame reveals the interior, which includes white furniture and several white, bird-like pendant lights. The entrance is a glass door with a green frame. In the foreground, there is a landscaped area with various plants, including a tall, thin evergreen on the left and clusters of red and green plants in the center. A paved walkway leads to the entrance, where four silhouetted figures are standing. A yellow planter with greenery is positioned near the entrance. The sky is a clear, light blue.
